IDA ILE CAIRNEGIE

AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING"

WHEN the young son Jerry, of George W. Meyer, 209 San Jose Avenue, Los Gatos, California, brought home his first report card for the first semester, George and his wife realized they had one of those an hour-and then tune-in-it will hard-to-handle, adolescent-age problems on their hands. The report was a disgrace to the boy as well as a reflection upon his parents. So George and his wife fell into the common error of scolding and punishing in an effort to stimulate the son into doing better work

But things went from bad to worse-even the 'hand of fellowship" applied to the "sent of learning" produced no good results. When the second, and equally disgraceful, report card was in their hands, they become desperately concerned, for they knew Jerry would have to repeat the year's work if he did not Improve. Then they decided to change their approach from the negative to the positive. The fact that they did not try it sooner, George says, was an indication of their own stupidity. They began abowing sympathy in the boy's interesia and listening to what he had to say-for a change. Soon they found themselves in a position to "motivate" Jerry to interested effort in his own behalf.

Today, because he is finding satisfaction in doing semething he really wants to do, Jerry is one of the top ien in his class. He is happler, and a source of real joy to his mother and father.

IT'S UP TO YOU

By Howard E. Kershner, L.H.D.

Most of us little realize how muchwe owe to those who save money and accumulate capital. Each new job in industry in our country requires the investment of about $12,-000. Suppose each worker had to save that amount before he could have the job. The reason he does not have to do that is because someone else does it for him. Surely the person who does it is entitled to an adequate reward sufficient to induce him and others to keep on saving, and accumulating more capital in order that our workers may have the benefit of more and better equipment. That is what increases production, makes possible higher and higher wages, and rising living ntandarda.

Without the saver, men would have to work very hard, as in primitive times, and subsist at low living standards, with a great decrease in population.

Another man who contributes: much to all of us is the risk-taker. Those who have saved money or areentrusted with other people's money. must take great risks in founding and developing businesses. Materials have to be purchased, factories erected, machines bought, and wages paid, sometimes for many years before there is any hope of profit. Would you be willing to risk your savings on these long-term ventures with only the hope of later obtaining a reward and with the certainty that whatever you carned, the gov-ernment would take most of it in taxes and that you would be faced with keen competition, mountains of paper work, accounting, strikes, criticism, and abuse all the way? If you would not take these risks and go through this tortuous process, have you a right to expect that others will do it for you?

Certainly we must concede that the man who is willing to do it must be offered an adequate reward to case of success. That reward must be sumcient to induce many men to save and to risk their all in the founding and developing of new businesses.

Without the saver and the risktaker, there would be no progress, and the standard of living would alowly decline toward primitive con-

It is wrong for socialists to sneer at profits and call it unearned. Evenour income blanks using the expression "uncarned income" are taking part in the maligning of the saver and the risk-taker who are the best friends of all of us. Chiloten Friedom Foundation New York, N. Y.

Rev. Robert H. Harper Micalab Withstands False Prophets. Laston for May 23: I Kings 22: 5-8, 3-18, 26-28a.

Golden Text: I Kings 22: 14.

After the division of the kingdom of David and Solomon, Judah and Israel had been hostile to each other, but in the time of Ahab an alliance was formed between him and Jehoshaphat of Judah for the overthrow of Ben-haded of Syria. When they went to battle seeingt the Syrians. Alah === killed. So ended the career of one of the worst rulers of all time.

Before the battle was begun, Jehoshaphat insisted that they inquire of Jehovah concerning the issue of the conflict. Ahab summoned about four hundred propiets of Israel and asked them about the matter. Base sycophants, they predicted that victory would come to the armies of Judah and Israel. Sill Jehoshaphat was not satisfied and he saked if there might be another prophet who could be saked about the battle. Micalah was summoned and he fearlessly predicted the ulter defeat of the allies and the death of Ahab. Micalah was sent to prison and given scanly food. Aliab went to battle-to receive a mortal wound. Thus was the prophet vindicated. In prison he was of greater power then a king on the field of battle. For God was on the side of the courageons prophel. On the other hand, Ahab, though a king, had forfetted all claim upon God and so came to a wreiched and.

More power for you

We have it — more work power for you — in the Model CA Tractor. With two 14 inch plows, it walks right along in 2nd in toughest soils. Why?

 The rugged Allis Chalmers engine delivers 23.55 drawbar hp, and 20.62 belt hp, at only 10.50 rpm.
 AUTOMATIC TRACTION BOOSTER, the new engineering principle that puls horsepower completely to work. Implement weight is transferred automatically to rear wheels as needed.

SNAP COUPLER eliminates time lost in all job change-overs with both mounted and trail type implements. When it's time to cultivate, power shift wheels are spaced in minutes. For harvesting, the CA's two-clutch system lets you stop forward motion without slowing power take-off speed. Fower used in ground travel is released to the P.T.O. Let us demonstrate this new Allie Chalmers power on your farm. It's built to earn a profit.

In our tryout camps I often see good young pitchers who can make their move to first very quickly, to try to pick off a ranner. But, I also discover namy of them are making this move at a sacrifice of their pitching potential. That is, they are lessing up on the hall to the batter, and not puttles their best action on it because they are so aware of the runner. That is exactly what the runner wants you to do.

We have to stress to these young pilchers that the runter is not of primary importance. What is important is to put your best stuff on the ball to the balaman from the stationary position, without a windon, when there is a runner or runners on base. A runner can score only one run, if the balaman hits a "cripple" you throw him, that can cost you an extra run.

After you have learned to pilch well from the set position in front of the rubber with men on base, then you must go to the fast ball. If a curve is your base the throw to first position in front of the rubber with men on base, then you have to use the identical with the start of your regular delicery, so that here again, you do not the off course, you must be they you wish to follow sound strategy.

> > CORBETT ADVISES NOT

Ralph A Corbett, Extension Service dairyman, advises against letting your cown graze the grass too close because it will cut the yield of milk per acre. Grass and legumes should not be grazed closer than three to four inches. This leaves enough of the plant so that recovery is much faster after grazing and the plants still provide a "Elimination of the capital gains cover for the ground, preventing excessive soll drying, "It's better dends would be a powerful shot in to let the grass get ahead of the the arm to the whole economy."-- cows than for the cows to get ahead of the grass," says Corbett.
